SOCIETY IS FORMED TO PRESERVE LIBERTY

DAWES HEADS NEW MOVEMENT

"Minute Men of Constitution" to War on Class Discriminating Agencies

Chicago.—Organization of the "Minute Men of the Constitution" to preserve American liberties, of which Brigadier General Charles G. Dawes, sponsor for the organization, which is non-partisan, will be president is announced.

The association plans to obtain Illinois delegates to the Democratic and Republican national and state conventions to obtain these planks:

1—Advocate a new respect for the United States Constitution.

2—Condemning all agencies causing class hatred or discrimination.

3—Recognizing the right of collective defense of economic, social and political rights.

4—Upholding the right of a citizen to cease work or work without interference.

5—Upholding the loyalty to the government and beyond that to any civil and industrial organization working in the interests of special groups.

Railroad Traffic's New Record

Washington.—Due to the business revival, statistics compiled by the car service division of the American Railway association shows that the country's railroads are carrying the greatest volume of spring traffic in their history. A new high record for freight shipments for this time of year was established by the carriers during the week ending April 14, when 946,759 cars of revenue freight were loaded or within 7 per cent of the record week in history, that of October 15, 1920.

"Dry Navy" Needs Speed Boats

New York.—A strong demand for motorcraft suitable for making fast runs has been created since rum running became a profitable business. At least a dozen such craft would be necessary to stop the rum running off the Atlantic highlands. It was found that such vessels would cost from $40,000 to $50,000, and inasmuch as no such sum is available for the purpose the prospect of a prohibition fleet adequate for the emergency is considered remote.

Mexican Pact Envoys Named

Washington.—Charles Beecher Warren, former ambassador to Japan, and John Barton Payne, former secretary of the interior, have been selected to represent the United States in the negotiations at Mexico City looking to the recognition of the Obregon government. The Mexican delegation will consist of Ramon Ross and Fernandez Gonzales Roa. Both delegates are reported to be warm personal friends of President Obregon.

Radical Reds Board Ship

San Pedro.—On account of the intimidation measures of two hundred radicals, most of them said to be from the oil fields, who invaded the San Pedro harbor district and boarded a large number of vessels in an effort to tie up shipping, 1000 stevedores left the vessels and half a dozen ships were tied up. Threats were made that seamen who refused to strike would be "beaten up."

Lumber Rates East Go Up

Washington.—Readjustment of railroad rates on sash doors and other items of milled lumber house trimmings, was ordered by the Interstate Commerce commission. Present rates are unduly prejudicial to manufacturing plants in Wisconsin, Iowa and Illinois, and unduly preferential to similar mills on the Pacific coast. Railroads were ordered to establish new schedules by June 16.

California Women Elected

Louisville.—The National Congress of Mothers and Parent Teachers' associations favor formation of some permanent organization to prevent war, promotion of peace and legislation to create uniform national marriage and divorce laws. Mrs. Henry J. Ewing San Jose, Cal., was elected first vice-president, and Mrs. Hubert N. Rowell, Berkeley, treasurer.

Antares Is Largest Star

Washington.—A giant star, Antares with a diameter of 420,000,000 miles, assigned it by Mount Wilson (Cal.) observatory astronomers, displaces Betelgeuse, with its diameter of 300,000,000 miles, hitherto the largest known star.

500 BELLS CHIME FOR DUKE

Britons Manifest Loyalty By Acclaiming Approval of Royal Wedding

London.—The duke of York and Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon are married.

While the great bells of Parliament square pealed the nation's joy and millions sent up a thunder of cheers, the modest Scotch lassie, who had entered Westminister abbey a commoner, emerged Cinderella-like, the bride of a duke.

At the moment they stepped from the massive abbey doors and started for their carriage, the sun, hidden two days burst forth and the 500 toned bells of Westminster set up the pealing they maintained for three and a half hours as the duke carried away his bride on a long ride through London streets where several millions saw them pass.

Women for Military Service

Warsaw.—Compulsory military service by women between the ages of twenty and forty during time of war has been decided upon by the military committee of the chamber of deputies. In case the bill is passed women between these ages must assist in any way the government dictates during wartime. The committee also recommended that all males be liable to enghteen months' conscription.

Bombs Tie Up Ruhr Rails

Duesseldorf.—Bomb explosions on the Ruhr cut railway, telegraph and telephone communications and temporarily disorganized traffic. During the confusion the Germans made a series of efforts to run the customs barrier into interior Germany, but large quantities of goods which the Germans were tryng to get through were seized by hte French.

Bow to Conventions

Benton Harbor, Mich.—Fourteen couples of the Israelite House of David here have been wedded on the eve of a grand jury investigation of the religious colony. They were married by Elizabeth Forhan, woman justice of the peace, here. Justice Forhan said she went to the colony Thursday and married half the couples that night and the remainder Friday night.

Germans Expelled by French

Dusseldorf.—Three thousand German railroad men with their families have been expelled by the French from the Rhineland and the Rhur. Including customs officials, government administrators and postal, telegraph and telephone employees the expulsions, including their families, total more than 30,000.

The University of Southern California has prospects for one of the strongest track and field teams in the Pacific coast conference next year according to Coach Cromwell. Charles W. Paddock, is the only large point winner to be lost, while the squad will be greatly strengthened by the addition of this years' freshman aggregation.

Bakersfield authorities were mystified over the identity of the body of an eighteen-months-old baby boy found in a canal north of town. It is believed the child's mother has committed suicide and may still be in the canal, or that murder has been committed. The child, when found, was still warm, and it is said it could not have been in the canal an hour.

A seach of the effects of the man who had been known in Alhambra for the past year as "James S. Smith" disclosed, hidden away in a corner of his shack, various documents bearing the name of Captain John S. Pringle, formerly master of the schooner Charles Brown. A bill of sale showed that this ship was purchased in San Francisco in 1921, by Pringle and two associates. Letters indicated that the schooner was to be used in motion pictures and for excursions, and that it was brought to Redondo Beach. Stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage the mystery man had died in an ambulance while being taken to the hospital.

Two children playing in a wash on San Gabriel Boulevard, southeast of Alhambra, discovered the tiny body of a baby boy lying in the sand wrapped in a towel and newspapers. From the appearance of the body officials believe the baby was strangled.

CLUB ARTIST DAY

A large number of members and guests gathered at the home of Mrs. J. C. Ainsley, Monday when the Country Woman's Club met for a musical afternoon. The subject was Woman Artists and Musicians, with Mrs. R. G. Archibald and Mrs. Julia Toles on the committee.

Mrs. Toles was unable to be present and Mrs. Carboni read her paper on Artists. In it she named a great many, chiefly American, who became prominent either as painters or sculptors. Among those of foreign birth, of course, Rosa Bonheur was given the most prominence. Artists in all lines of painting were included, those famous for animal pictures, portraits, miniatures, and landscapes in both oil and water colors.

Mrs. Archibald had taken the musicians, both composers and performers, naming a long list of those prominent in this field. She selected for a detailed account, Galli Curci, and Geraldine Farrar. Illustrating their remarkable voices two records were played on the Victrola.

Among the famous violinits Maud Powell ranks very high and a record of hers, "Barcarolle" was played. Olga Samaroff is a very talented pianist and a record she had made of the "Dream of Love" was played.

Women are coming to the front as composers also, a field into which they did not presume to venture in centuries past.

Mrs. H. M. Shadle exemplified the work of two of these noted women, singing very sweetly Carrie Jacobs Bond's "The Hand Of You", and Dorothy Foster's "Garden of Summer." Mrs. Robson was her accompanist and also played for Miss Bernice Bogart who played two pretty violin solos, "Pale Hands I Love" by Amy Woodward Finden, and "Romance" by Rose Eversoll.

Another treat was a group of three delightful songs sung by Mrs. Paul Rudolph of San Jose, "Homing", "Just Before the Lights Are Lit" by Jena Branscombe, and "The Big Brown Bear" by Monazucca with Miss Emelyn Beattie at the piano.

The concluding number was the "Meditation" from Thais as played by Winifred Byrd, a pice for the player piano.

During the social time which followed guests were greeted and punch and confections were served which concluded a charming afternoon.

Notice was given of the annual meeting for election of officers which comes on Monday, May 14, and will be held at the home of Mrs. Ralph Hyde, beginning promptly at 2:30 p. m. Every member is urged to be present.

The girls team played the San Jose Hi girls Monday and won by one point in a rather ragged game, and Wednesday won from the Los Gatos girls 17 to 6.

SENIORS GIVE VERY CREDITABLE PERFORMANCE AT ANNUAL PLAY

The senior class play "Come Out of the Kitchen" was presented Friday evening before an audience well filling the new auditorium. The cast had been carefully selected and well drilled in the parts which they played, and except for the occasional pauses to which all amateur productions are subject, the entire play moved along very smoothly.

As in most plays there were a few characters that occupied the stage the major part of the time, but while they were very well portrayed, the other parts were equally well given. No effort had been spared in making the stage settings complete and attractive. The three rooms pictured, drawing room, kitchen and dining room were all as well arranged as in any theatre, even to steam issuing from the teakettle on the kitchen range, and judging from appearances as seen from the audience, the supper was very real and satisfying.

The costumes were quite up to the mark of the stage properties and were certainly very attractive and becoming.

Alice Strom, as Olivia Dangerfield, alias Jane Ellen, the cook, was very good, sustaining her part well thruout and having had much to memorize. The part of the sister, Elizabeth Dangerfield, alias Araminta the room maid, was taken by Mary Devitt and equally well. With powdered hair and matronly dress, Pauline Blaine was quite the aristocratic madam with a young lady daughter to marry off satisfactorily. Vivian Gill, as Cora Falkner, was the daughter, and a very attractive one who had eyes for the desirable parte, but had surrendered her maidenly affections to Thomas Leffefts, statistical poet, in every day life Albert Gross. He was somewhat unemotional for a poet, which is probably characteristic of that type of one, for statistics are even prone to be prosaic. Irma Young as Amanda, Olivia's black mammy, was very good especially as she had come from a sick bed to take her place in the play.

MacDonald Feathers, emphasis on the Mac, made an excellent Yankee under the name of Burton Crane, and as host carried thru the difficulties of that position with skill and aplomb. His attorney and guest, Solon Tucker, was well portrayed by Robert Vincent, and evening attire was very becoming to his manly physique.

Chester Hultberg and Willard Farr took the parts of the two Dangerfield boys, the first of whom assumed the character of Smithfield, the butler, and the other, that of Brindlebury,, the boots, and they were typical of the two types. Thomas Byrnes had the rather difficult part of Randolph Weeks, agent for the Dangerfields, and unrequited lover of Olivia, which he handled very well.

The part of the "off stage" characters is often as important as those directly participating and the class had certainly chosen an effective corps of assistants. Mrs. Vaudine Putnam Sanders has had wide experience in drilling school dramatics and was ably assisted by Miss Violet Otterman of the high school faculty. Mr. R. E. Noddin acted as advisor and general manager and four boys of the class completed the competent staff—Graham Peake, Business Manager; Grant Taylor, Advertising Manager; Clarence Moffitt, Property Man; and Thomas Lumb, Stage Manager.

The orchestra provided a variety of selections prior to the rise of the curtain and between acts. It included: Grant Taylor, saxaphone; A. H. Wegel, trombone; Edgar Gerow, clarinet; W. F. Colbath, traps and Stanley Stocker, piano. Solo numbers were given by Grant Taylor and Stanley Stocker, and Vivian Gill sang "Carry Me Back to Ole Virginy" and responded to an encore, as did the others.

Taken in its entirely the evening was a grand success and all concerned have reason to feel satisfied with results.

Ye Editor is in receipt of an interesting letter from Rex Burdini, one time slide trombone artist with the old 13th regiment band at Camp Fremont. He is now leading the Norwalk band and plays in the Sciot and Masonic Club bands of Los Angeles. He is with the Union Oil Co. at Norwalk.

CLUB HAS GUEST DAY

The annual Guest Day of the Pundita Circle was observed Wednesday at the home of Mrs. D. H. Cramer.

The theme of the afternoon was flowers and springtime. Mrs. W. C. Bogen of the Flower Lovers' Club gave a most interesting talk on perennials. During her recent tour of Europe she had opportunity to study old world gardens, where gardening has always been more of an art than in America. In the line of perennials they have many more varieties than are commonly grown here, and of a higher type of cultivation.

Flower clubs are very numerous, there being a special one for almost every kind of flower grown and flower shows are very common even in little hamlets.

The speaker named a number of perennials, and exhibited samples of several of them culled from her own garden. She spoke of the "Red Hot Poker" quite common hereabouts, and said that England has 34 varieties.

One English firm has developed a cross between the clove pink and the carnation and has cultivated it for size and color, while another has paid more attention to fragrance. Among other varieties of plants she mentioned the perennial salvia in shades of blue, the new Sweet William in a red color, orietal poppies, the delphinium and many more.

In speaking of the recent sale held by the Flower Lovers' Club in San Jose for the purpose of increasing the number and variety of flowers grown in our valley, and to raise funds to carry on the flower shows which are free to the pulbic, she complimented the Campbell ladies who acted as saleswomen. From their day, when only small articles were sold, so that money came in in small amounts, $311.15 was realized.

Roll call of the club members was responded to with quotations about flowers and then Miss Helen Kalas favored the company with two delightful songs, "Heartease and Roses" by H. H. Beech, and "Springtide" by Becker. She was accompanied by Miss Bozena, who later played "Liebestraum" and a waltz by Chopin.

Dainty refreshments were served on attractively decorated trays and fluted dishes, accompanied by exquisite little French nose gay in paper frills.

School Fire Drill

Asurprise fire drill was sprung on the teachers and pupils at the Campbell Union Grammar School Wednesday with the excellent result of completely emptying the building in 57 seconds. This record is exceptionally good in as much as there had been no practice drill of any kind previously, and the kindergarten teacher did not immediately recognize the significance of the alarm, it being the first one sounded.

It is the intention of the trustees that the pupils shall be kept prepared for any unforseen emergency.

The Home and School Club will hold a food sale Saturday, May 5, at Gilson's Market, for the benefit of the Grammar School Cafeteria.

MRS. JOY CALLED

The community was distinctly shocked when the announcement was made of the death Friday of Mrs. Amelia H. Joy, at her ranch home on Rincon Avenue. Altho recognizing that her condition was serious, few, if any realized that the end was so near.

Mrs. Joy and family came to Campbell from Michigan many years ago and her children attended the Campbell schools. She was a sister of Mrs. Frank Savage who lived on Virginia Avenue until her death some years ago and a cousin of Mrs. Geo. N. Stray of San Jose.

She was always an extremely active woman, a great walker, and full of vim and energy so that it is hard to realize that she was 76 years of age.

The last rities were observed on Sunday, with several songs by a quartet composed of Miss Evelyn Henry, Mrs. H. S. Young, H. C. Smith and Dr. W. I. Merrill, a scriptural reading by her son, Thaddeus, who also spoke briefly, as did Miss Alice, who also offered the prayer.

Monday the body was taken to Oakland for creamation, the E. H. Melvin parlors of Los Gatos having charge of the service.

Besides the two children mentioned, there is a second daughter, Miss Lucy, who was also with her mother during her illness.

W. C. T. U.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union met with Mrs. Mame Case on Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Wilson presiding. In the absence of Mrs. Kennedy, superintendent of Evangelistic work, Mrs. Case led the devotional service. During the business hour, it was arranged to send another supply of jams, jellies, fruit and cokies to the soldiers,—this time to the Soldier's Hospital at Palo Alto, as a pleasant reminder of Mother's Day. Mrs. Luella Whitney, superintendent, taking charge of the packing and shipping. It is expected the contributions will be, as usual, quite generous. Additional delegates to the county convention were elected to fill the quota to which Campbell is entitled, the names of Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Farr being added. Further arrangements were made for the Mother's Meeting to be held with Mrs. Farr on May 9th and it was suggested by Mrs. Farr that eachc present relate at that meeting some recollection of her childhood showing the helpful power of a mother's influence. Members were again reminded of the plan to give at the county convention quotations from either the Union Signal or the State Minutes. After a short program the meeting adjourned to meet in two weeks at the M. E. parsonage.

(Later.—Word having been received from the state superintendent of Child Welfare Work that Mrs. Baker will be unable to attend the meeting in Campbell, May 9, the union will meet on that date with the president, Mrs. Wilson and the Mother's Meeting will be postponed to May 23rd. when it is hoped there may be a large attendance of both mothers and little White Ribbon Recruits.)

IMPORTS INCREASE

REVERSAL OF CONDITIONS FOR FOREIGN TRADE

GENERAL BUSINESS GROWING

Rail Officials Foresee Record In Traffic and Steel Orders Pile Up—Speculative Markets are Easier

New York.—Belated figures of our foreign trade for the calendar year of 1922 as against 1921 show an increase of $603,000,000 in imports and the balance of trade in our favor reduced to $716,000,000. This compares with an excess of exports over imports of $1,976,000,000 in 1921 and an average excess of over $3 000,000,000 annually for the preceding six years beginning with 1915 and ending with 1920.

Imports report for 1923 has not yet been published, but the exports for January and February aggregate $649,000,000. This compares with a total of $529,000,000 for the same months in 1922, but as the custom duties collected on imports are running far ahead of any previous record, it seems probable that our imports for 1923 may equal, if they do not exceed, our exports. If the latter shall prove to be the case it will be the first year since 1873 that the balance of trade has been against us.

The jobbing business throughout the country is said to be excellent. The railroad officials look for phenomenal summer traffic and are trying to prepare for it in the hope that by efficiency they may forfend a reduction in rates.

Paris.—The distribution of Sarah Bernhardt's estate may be tied up owing to contradictory certificates concerning her birth, and it is reported that her lawyers are busy in Havre trying to ascertain definitely who was her father. The birth certificate itself was destroyed but the late actress's parish certified when she was baptised that her age was twelve and that she was the daughter of a sailor of Havre.

HENRY IS RIGHT

WE all know that Henry Ford is wise, but his announcement of a plan for selling Ford cars on payments of five dollars a week gives us fresh proof. This installment idea throws new light on his shrewdness.

Notice that possession of a car is not given immediately. That is where the Ford plan differs from most installment systems. The buyer puts five dollars a week into an interest-bearing savings account, keeping on until he has enough for a substantial first payment. In that way he has proved something.

He has proved his ability to save money. Having saved, say, one-third the price of a car, he can reasonably be depended upon to save the other two-thirds.

Therein is Henry's wisdom—before he gives possession of an installment-plan car, he makes the purchaser prove that it is deserved. The car is thus a reward of character.

Many a person will be inspired to save five dollars a week by the lure of a Ford. Having made that start and got the machine paid for, some will keep right on saving because they have formed the habit. Some others will begin and then decide to leave all the money in the bank right along for an interest-bearing account. In any case, attention is drawn anew to the value of saving. We can very appropriately say, "Thank you, Henry."

Hist, It's May!

ONCE, about 40 years ago, back in Dakota, the proprietor of "Blaine's" was elected King of the May. The freckledest girl in school was elected May Queen. It was a terribly hot election. All the boys wanted to be May King and all the girls wanted to be May Queen. They all got so cross because they weren't elected that they wouldn't go to the picnic. Besides the King and the Queen, no one went but her freckled majesty's brother, and he felt that he was really one too many.

Such things are amusing to remember. It's good to know, too, that children still picnic in the hills. They've been doing it for the last forty years, and they'll likely keep it up for the next forty. But now that autos have come amongst us, older folk get out in the open nearly as much as the youngsters do, which is a mighty good practice.

This May brings us a picnic season that is ideal. Early and late rains have made all the hills green. And wild flowers—hills and dales are rich with them. Up on the ridges you'll find graceful, spotted Mariposa lilies. Down near the foot of the slopes, where the grass grows deep, tall collinsias will raise their heads and offer you their pink-and-white clusters. In the shade of the trees, although it's a bit late for them, there might still be purple shooting stars. Yellow-faced Johnny-jump-ups will peek at you saucily from anywhere.

Make the best of your chances for free days in the hills before the busy fruit harvest comes along and ties you down. Find a good parking place, stroll among the trees and flowers awhile, and then sit and rest by the gurgling, friendly stream. But oh, fresh air and climbing will make you hungry! Take plenty of supplies along. It's a good thing that you can find a full stock of eatables at "Blaine's."

May Day this year was frought with unusual importance. To be sure in childhood circles it has always meant May baskets and May Day festivities, but this year of our Lord, 1923, May first marked the opening of the "fishing season", and therefor bore a new significance. Lovers of the sport began preparing days before and were at their chosen locations in due season and as on election days, returns began coming in early, both the verbal and visual. The latter, however, are the ones that really count with the folks at home.

Best for Motor Oils

ZEROLENE, made from selected Western Naphthenic Base Crude, vacuum-distilled by our exclusive process, will increase your car's power and gasoline mileage by about 5% more than you can get when you use the average higher-priced oil.

In addition, your car will run from 25% to 50% farther before carbon-removing operations become necessary. Both these facts have been proved by repeated demonstrations in the laboratories of this Company and on the road.

Insist on Zerolene—even if it does cost half as much. Consult our Correct Lubrication Chart to determine the right body of Zerolene for your car.
